Shirokuma offers its latest extension to NDB for free

Get a taste of the growing library

Budapest, Hungary, April 14, 2004 – Shirokuma Ltd. announced today that a free Voix Humaine (Vox Humana) 8' organ stop sample is available for download from the company web site. The new organ stop, which extends the Notre Dame de Budapest (NDB) Pipe Organ Samples collection, is a valuable addition to all current NDB users and a direct demonstration of the capabilities of the product for everyone else interested.

'Extending the library from time to time is a very important mission for us' said Shirokuma CEO Szabolcs Varga. 'This unique organ stop is among the most beautiful ones from the great organ of Notre Dame de Buda.' added Csaba Huszty, NDB architect and lead engineer who was recently interviewed on Channel 1 of the Hungarian Television about the library. 'For compatibility reasons, this free stop is currently in 48 kHz/16 bit format, but will be included in 24 bit clarity in the forthcoming GigaStudio 3 release' he continued.

Shirokuma is currently working on the forthcoming GigaStudio 3 version of the NDB library.

Availability

Unlike the existing demos at the product website, this stop is a fully functional one. It can be downloaded at no charge from the product website <http://www.orgona.org>.

While the stop is free to download, distribute and test, restrictions on professional usage (due credit and clear marking that electronic samples were used) apply.

The NDB library is available worldwide at all major music shops specializing on quality sound samples.

About NDB

According to what organists and organ experts say, Notre Dame de Budapest Pipe Organ Samples is the ultimate pipe organ sampling DVD – the only sample collection, which really contains all important stop combinations of a symphonic organ together with the the natural reverb of the cathedrals. Also, for the first time in the world, the collection offers real swellbox, crescendo and tremolo effects – just like a real pipe organ. More information: <http://www.orgona.org>.
